

Art Pieces at the Northwest Arts Center

Sepp Mayrhuber crafted this unique mosaic which depicts the development of culture as seen in great human epochs and individual achievements. In 1967, it was installed at the Bellevue Public Library. Today it is housed at the Northwest Arts Center.

Artist John Kennedy expresses life's forbidden pleasures in the statue "Amore". "Amore" depicts the feelings of an illicit love affair.

Dudley Carter's, "Legends of the Deep" is inspired from a Native American legend dealing with the sanctity and preservation of life. The carving was donated to Bellevue in 2000.

Welcome to the Northwest Arts Center

The Northwest Arts Center is located in a quite residential neighborhood in northwest Bellevue. The 2 1/2-acre park site has a large grass area, parking lot, office building, and the Northwest Arts Center. Cultural art programs and events, adult fitness classes, pottery, music, and dance classes are offered year round. For a complete list of programs available at the Northwest Arts Center, pick up a copy of the Bellevue Parks & Community Service Connections Brochure or visit cityofbellevue.org.

The Northwest Arts Center is also available for rent. With its relaxed campus feel and beautiful views of the cascade mountains and downtown Bellevue, it is an ideal site for birthday parties, retreats, meetings, and larger social functions such as wedding receptions. The Northwest Arts Center is minutes from Highway 520 and I-405.
