

RETAIL CURBSIDE PICKUP

As part of the gradual reopening, some businesses may be interested in adapting their operations to align public health and social distancing requirements with business needs. For example, restaurants may be more interested in patio dining, and fitness studios may be interested in accessing park space.

• IN-STREET

The City has already created temporary pickup zones for restaurants offering take-out and delivery. Upon request, it may deploy additional pickup zones for curbside retail, depending on the location and parking demand. Businesses should contact Transportation (trreception@bellevuewa.gov) for more information and to request a zone.

• PARKING LOT

Retail pickup is allowed in existing parking lots, although businesses should follow best practices and general guidelines:

- Spaces may be reallocated from in store customer parking to short term pickup. ADA-accessible parking spaces should not be altered from their intended use, but may in some circumstances be re-allocated as pick-up for handicapped patrons.
- Curbside pickup spaces may not be “drive-thru”-style, as this may create transportation impacts on the street.
- Fire access zones must be kept clear at all times.
