THE STORYTELLERS:

The Curry Belly Finds Home at Last

Tulika is a long-time local resident, originally from Mumbai India. Her story speaks to a shift in perspective about her home country that came with distance and time. In the years of self-discovery and embracing living in a different land so far away from her birthplace, she grew to both cherish her upbringing and to use her voice to bring about change both here and abroad.

Child of an Immigrant

Fadumo a Bellevue high school senior will share her experiences growing up as a first-generation Somali-American. She brilliantly forges her own path while staying true to her Muslim faith and her family's values.

The Bridge of Authenticity

Chris-Michael, recognized for his leadership skills grew up in Seattle and works in Bellevue. He has a unique experience of fitting in everywhere, because of not fitting in anywhere. His outlook on navigating life and identity inspires us to look within.
